DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 1 and 2 are objected to because of the following informalities: The conditions for determining melt flow rate should be included in the claims since there are two commonly used standards. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

5. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Kokubo et al.

Kokubo et al. teaches an copolymer derived from ethylene and 1-butene having an activation energy for melt flow of 78 kJ/mole, a MFR of 1 g/10 min, and a melt tension of 6.5 (see example 2). Thus, the MFR and E_a requirements set forth in the instant claims is met, as is the relationship between melt tension and melt flow rate, i.e., equation (1). The reference is silent with respect to the remaining properties, however, in light of the fact that the copolymer is essentially the same as that recited in the claim, and in view of the fact that the principle rheological properties are essentially the same, a reasonable basis exists to believe that the polymer described in Kokubo et al. also exhibits the unrecited properties. Since the PTO can not conduct experiments, the burden of proof is shifted to the Applicants to establish an unobviousness difference. In re Fitzgerald, 619 F.2d. 67, 205 USPQ 594 (CCPA 1980). See MPEP § 2112-2112.02.

Information Disclosure Statement

6. The information disclosure statement (IDS) filed March 26, 2004 fails to comply with 37 CFR 1.98(a)(1), which requires the application number of the application in which the information disclosure statement is being submitted on each page of the list. Therefore, the references were not considered.

A new information disclosure statement was submitted on October 28, 2004 which cites the two references in the March IDS, as well as additional references. These references were not considered by the examiner because the IDS was not signed properly according to 37 C.F.R. 1.4(d)(2).

A third information disclosure statement was filed on November 4, 2004. The references have been initialized, and the IDS has been entered into the record.
